DISCOVER THE Joy OF GIVING

You care deeply about your local community. Middletown Community Foundation – your community foundation – is the only organization that supports the local nonprofit ecosystem from schools and educational enrichment programs, to the arts, theatre, youth sports, and so much more. All of the scholarships and grants listed in these pages are made possible, in part, because of your contributions to MCF.

There are so many reasons that our area is a great place to live, work and play and Middletown Community Foundation is here to help amplify ALL of these and more!

When you join our community of donors, you open the door to opportunities that can enrich your life while enriching the world around you. Wherever you are on your giving journey, we can meet you there.

The community foundation accepts a variety of assets, and most funds can be started with a simple letter of agreement or a single paragraph in a will. If you create a fund with us, it can grow tax-free over time – meaning more money is available for the causes you love.

The neuroscience is clear: when we give and volunteer, our brains experience joy. Middletown Community Foundation delivers joy each and every day to our donors, volunteers, and beneficiaries.

With gratitude,

Sarah K. Nathan, PhD
Executive Director

2022 AWARDS

Mary C. Maurer Volunteer Leadership Award recognizes the extraordinary generosity of time and spirit given to community service by someone between the ages of 30 and 50. This year we recognize Joe Mulligan. Joe, in his own words, is a community servant. When Joe joins a board or committee, he becomes deeply involved with the organization. Many local organizations have benefited from Joe's volunteer leadership including Downton Middletown, Inc., Hospice, the Performing Arts Academy, and Middletown Area Neediest Youth. Recently, Joe led the Middletown Rotary Club out of the pandemic and set it on course to thrive. His passion for service shines through all that he does personally and professionally. Joe is a person of strong character who exhibits kindness and insight. His commitment to the community is inspiring and worthy of recognition.

Mary Jane Palmer Nunlist "I love Middletown" Award honors the community's "unsung heroes" who make significant contributions to Middletown's quality of life without receiving much recognition for their efforts. This year we honor Roger Smith. A life-long resident of Middletown, Roger has served as a volunteer and board member for numerous organizations including Central Connections, Junior Achievement, the Community Forum for Race Relations, Miami University's Community Engagement Council, and many others. He is a community faith leader as Senior Pastor of Bethlehem Temple First Pentecostal Church. And, for over 25 years, has held almost every position at Abilities First, serving children with disabilities and special needs. Recently, he has gracefully guided the organization through an unexpected transition as interim executive director. Never one to seek recognition, Roger prefers to support and lift up others. We are pleased to shine a bright light on Roger's enduring commitment to Middletown.

Roland P. Ely Jr. President's Award thanks an individual whose long-term impact on the foundation has been meaningful. This year we recognize Richard Isroff, who exemplifies honor, commitment, and dedication to our mission. A past president of the board of trustees, Richard was instrumental in launching the foundation's ready! Campaign for early childhood education. He continues to serve on other committees as well, including marketing and finance. We benefit from his wisdom at every meeting he attends. But his impact extends well beyond mcf. When his children were young, he was an active youth baseball coach. He was a founding member of the arts festival and continues to mentor a new generation of civic volunteers in this effort. He continues to be actively involved with rotary and leads its annual fundraising event. And he brings his lighthearted spirit to each of these activities. We are grateful for all that he has done for MCF and our community!
